

New Parish Youth Worker Luke Carson

As part of our membership of Youth Ministry in Communion, a group of liberal catholic churches in west London collaborating on youth work, the Parish of Putney was invited to apply for a youth worker jointly with All Saints, Fulham. We were successful and will welcome Luke Carson as the youth worker in September, collaborating with All Saints, Fulham.

Many thanks to the National Church of England who have provided the funding for this post.

We introduce him to all of you in his own words and we hope you will introduce yourselves to him when he joins us!

"Hello everyone, I am Luke, the new YMIC youth worker who will be with you all over the next year and hopefully longer! I am originally from Belfast, Northern Ireland but have been living in England for the past four years while studying at Kent and UCL. Alongside running and cycling, I enjoy a good chat so don't be a stranger. Raised in the Church of Ireland and also attending Quaker meetings has led me on a journey into youth fellowship and leadership which I am excited to continue here at All Saints Fulham, Putney Parish and a wider network of Churches."
